Dwight's Best RF

Confidential sources close to Page House have informed the Tech that the cold fusion data released by B. Stanley Pons and Martin Fleischman was completely false and had no experimental basis. Furthermore, the two researchers were paid an unknown amount of money by master prankster Dwight Berg, in what is easily the most impressive RF of his career.

This fantastic display of criminal ingenuity originated at the start of first term 1988. It was then that Dwight, searching for an RF that would really screw up the scientific community, thought up the idea of releasing false evidence of a breakthrough in some area of science that was currently the focus of much money and attention.

The problem of disseminating the untrue data still remained, however. Only a timely suggestion by accomplice Andre Ohannissian, that Dwight "pay some bozo in some two-bit college to make the findings public," saved the operation from failure. The next stage involved scouring the country for some down-and-out scientist with questionable morals.

After months of searching with no results, Dwight was beginning to give up hope. But his luck took a sudden turn when he found the duo of Pons and Fleischman. Here were two men who had just abandoned their lives' dream, the creation of tabletop fusion. With no government funding, they had invested large sums of their own money in a project doomed to failure, and now financial concerns had finally forced them to quit their research. Then Dwight sent them a letter, briefly explaining his idea.

A plan of action was quickly formulated, and soon things were underway. Dwight paid the team, then told them to wait a couple of months so that he could "cover his tracks."

In order to cause the biggest possible disruption within the scientific world, it was decided that instead of writing a paper revealing the fictitious breakthrough, a press conference would be held. Also, crucial information concerning the alleged "experiment" would be given out bit by bit, to further increase the confusion created.

Because the rest of the scientific community reacted quickly and removed most of the credibility to the cold fusion claim, the damage, measured in lost time and materials, has been small. Despite this, the prank is certainly the most far-reaching of any Dwight has attempted so far.

When confronted with the evidence that connected him to the fraud, Dwight was not at a loss for words: "So you found out, big deal. Just because some dumb frosh told you, doesn't mean you can do anything. You can't do shit to me. What about those people who said they got similar results? Similar to what, a lie? Those are the the guys you should be going after. By the way, Ben Johnson is a geek."

Neither Pons nor Fleischmann were available for comment.

Ben Johnson a Frosh

1989-90 will be the greatest year in Caltech track and field history! Many collegiate, American, and world records will be set by this team with a rendezvous with destiny!

The star of this team will be world class biathlete, Mark Lyttle. After a year with the Saturday meet sickness, he comes back to lead the team. Continuing his fine steeplechase running, Mark runs a 8:52 and wins the NCAA nationals. But the amazing thing is Mark's diversity. He helps the team run to 4x100 collegiate record and runs a 2:12 marathon, outkicking coach O'Brien in the process. "I am capable of great exploits, and Ben Johnson is awesome!", Mark says.

World class road racer Chris Campo stuns the world with a new haircut, the Carl Berg-Dave Geraghty hair style! This boosts Chris' confidence, and he beats his nemesis, Emmitt Hogan, at the cross-country national championships with a ferocious kick that demolishes his competition. After being told about his 5 mile time of 23:20, Chris says "Ahhh, truly not bad. Let's go surfin' dude!"

Scott Kister does only what he is expected to in the 1500 meters with a 3:40.22, only 40 seconds better than his previous best. With real aspirations in the 800 meters, Scott destroys the competition with a 1:47, leading from start to finish. To prove his dominance, Scott crosses the line with one finger raised, saluting Ben Johnson in the process.

Dan Flees switches to the 10,000 meters, deciding he likes long, boring events. He manages to set the collegiate record with a 28:02, but decides to quit the team to run marathons full time. "I hate these short & *%$#races!", yells Dan.

Chris Goddard sets the 400 meter world record, beating Butch Reynolds in the process. Chris now claims, "I am ready for the 100 meters, although the 800 is my best event."

Meanwhile, due to the success of the team, Caltech has decided to let down its admission standards in order to try to with the national championship. Some rumored frosh are: Ben Johnson, Said Aouita, Edwin Moses, Joe Falcon, Sydney Maree, Florence Griffith Joyner, and other decent academians.

Letters at 3 A.M.

There was this dream and it was the only thing I remember about living in this apartment, just before I started kindergarten. I woke up and it seemed like I was levitating about an inch off my bed. All these snakes were slithering through channels cut in my mattress. They weren't touching me but I was still scared a lot. I looked by the wall and below this poster of a racing car sat my parents at a younger age, maybe a year out of high school, on a go-cart, smiling totally oblivious to what I was going through. I really started panicking when I looked at my door and saw these two inch tall men filling it in with spelling blocks. I feared I would be dead if they filled the door, so I sprang out of my bed and charged at the door. When I hit it, blocks and little men went flying everywhere. Looking down to the end of the hall, I saw the pastor of our church, Father Burtenshaw, preaching to four young children. When I came up to him, though, he changed into a horrible monster. Running away I looked at him chasing me and saw he was throwing yellow Nerf® balls at me. I ran into my parents room and told them a monster was chasing me. They looked up and didn't see a monster, but Father Burtenshaw. They told me to go back to sleep, but I went to sleep between them that night.

Well, anyway that was the worst nightmare I ever had, until the lesbian biker gang that jumped out of a van...

BRA GRAPHS ARE OFFENSIVE

Dear editors:

Last Friday as I was perusing that day's issue of The California Tech, I was astonished to find a graph comparing breast acceleration figures on the Jogbra and some generic bra. I think I can make up my mind what bra to buy without using some fake graph composed by three horny, oversexed college students. Why you all would even make up a graph like that is beyond me. You three are the biggest fuck-up editors of the Tech I have ever had the mispleasure of reading. I wish someone would put you in your place, and I feel like giving some hints. So like that Biology dude's stupid list of why they plant redwoods next to buildings, I would like to include The Top 10 Coolest Ways To Inflict Pain on California Tech Editors: (Due to space limitations, the rest of this insightful letter could not be printed in it's entirety -the Eds) and I think that would really show you all not to mess with such an issue.

Sincerely, Fuck You
-an offended bra wearer

For anyone else interested, we found that ad in a city-wide sports publication, but we sure are thankful we didn't put in the ad included on page 12, because we knew that all of you would love it so much. -the Editors

Hey, its my birth day
6-9-69

Mark Lyttle, the in-depth editor of the California Tech newspaper, was one of two students named National College Journalist of the Year by the Journalism Education Association.

Yesterday, Lyttle said he was pleased and excited by the award. "It's a great honor, and it makes me feel like what I've done has been worth something," he said.

Lyttle was one of 23 college journalists selected as best in their state, making them finalists for the award. He won a $350 scholarship in March when he was selected as California's nominee.

The awards were based on clippings of stories, letters of recommendation and an essay that explained why the student chose journalism as his field of endeavor in college.

Lyttle shared the top award with Dan Reese, a senior from Austin, Texas. Both won $1000 scholarships.

"I think the award validates what my students are doing," said Hall Daily, Lyttle's advisor at Caltech.

Several judges were impressed with his coverage of a sensitive story dealing with the teaching quality at Caltech.

Margaret Johnston, chairman of the selection committee and a faculty member of the College of Journalism at the University of Georgia, praised Lyttle's writing. "The judges were extremely impressed with the strength of his reporting and writing skills," she said.

16 kids got Baced today, including me. We were arguing about a Ph 236 assignment, in the courtyard at 5:00 AM.

and the rest of the house Baced us for making too much noise. It really bumbled. Then, I watched all of "Days of Our Lives" and was late to Lit 3 again. Mr. Slate got real mad and tore up my 1000-word essay, even though it was only 10 minutes late. How am I going to pass my Frosh Humanities requirement? I only have two months 'til graduation!

PICO RIVERA RESIDENT CAPTURES RTD OPERATOR OF THE YEAR HONORS --

Rogelio G. Chacon, a veteran of 10 years behind the wheel of an RTD bus, accepts congratulations from fellow operators moments after he was announced as the RTD 1988 Operator of the Year at the New Otani Hotel. RTD officials presented the 42-year-old father of three with a certificate of merit and a check for $250. Chacon has achieved an almost unblemished service record in his 10 years, and has been a finalist in four of the five Bus Roadeo competitions he has entered. Chacon was selected from a field of 12 operators, each named operator of the month during 1988. Winner of this honor is considered to be the District's top bus operator for the year. He and his wife, Lourdes, live in Pico Rivera with their family. Chacon is an avid baseball fan and enjoys playing classical guitar.

The Users' Guide to Bathrooms

by i.p. Daily

1. The SAC: Not only are these toilets the most comfortable (they conform to your butt like they were designed for you personally), but they are also one of the most convenient.

2. N. Mudd: What other building has bathrooms with the dial-a-gender system, I ask you? The marble and wood stalls, nice views, and overall roominess combine to make this building number two.

3. Robinson: The auxiliary sink room and nice airy views make the astronomy building a strong contender.

4. S. Mudd: Any non-house bathroom with a shower in it has a special place in my heart.

5. Braun: Unrivaled in sink design; also has sanitary napkin/tampon dispenser in handicapped lavatory.

6. Tascit House: Well, it may be dirty, but at least no one else uses it.

7. Gates: Use of stone and tile make for an enjoyable evening of waste disposal.

8. Dabney Hall: Much of the same as Gates, but a tad less interesting.

9. The one across the hall: 'Nuff said.

COMEDY PICK OF THE WEEK

RICHARD GERKE

One of Caltech's most underrated painters, Richard Gerke turns an important corner in this new body of work, adopting a technique associated with a very different art form to give the approach he's been practicing for almost a decade a new depth and vigor.

the new visual charge? He's reached for the spray can, the quintessential tool of the graffiti artist. For the most part, graffiti art itself turns into flat, vapid knockdown-Pop when it leaves urban spaces for gallery walls; only calligraphically gifted graffitists (like, say, Chas Bojorquez) make the transition successfully.

NEWTONESE is Language of TRUTH, SAFETY, & LEADERSHIP. Newtonian Definitions Agreed at Paris 1901. TREATY Moral Law was given by Moses. Grace and Truth came by Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

CIT DEE DA

BY GLENN TESLER, DAVID EDWARDS, RORKE HAINING, MIGUEL MCDONALD, ALLAN, STEPHANIE, AND STEVE

June is upon us, and we, the members of Ricketts House, must say goodbye to many of our friends. Our congratulations go out to RAs Charles and Mellisa Mullins, who survived two and a half years of Ricketts House, a record in recent history. Next year we will welcome a new RA, Luca Cortelezzi.

Heidi Anderson and Andrew Kaluzniacki are departing on good terms, and celebrated by making chocolate mousse for the house. Although this was one of the few non-social team sponsored events we've had this term, Heidi and Drew plan to antagonize Bernie until they get reimbursed $65. Most non-seniors will be shocked to see someone other than Sam Weaver and Gabriela Cornejo living in the guest suite next year. Kind as she is, Gaby has offered to give Cherries to anyone who wants to be a good mother to the cat, of whose 9 lives 5 remain, but so far no one has shown an interest.

In anguish over his departure from Snatch, Lindsey Dubb has formed the Snatch Renovation Committee. No longer will frosh live in a boring sky-blue alley. Scenes from Dr. Seuss books will be painted on the walls over the summer; anyone interested in participating is welcome to contact him.

Everyone looks forward to the wedding of Dan Raguin and Laura Smith one week after their graduation June 16th; members of the house will be brought very close together as twenty-five or so of us cram in to four hotel rooms. After a long honeymoon in Europe, Dan and Laura will settle down in Rochester, New York, where Dan will attend graduate school and Laura will support him.

The treasurer, tool, and all-around twin team Gaylon Lovelace and Jerry Hauck, will depart to 317 Wilson, and never be heard from again.

Social events planned to celebrate these and other departures include an RA farewell party; "Scope 'dem Babes at Raging Waters" this Saturday, followed by a Party at the Frame House in the evening; Eric Candell and Heidi Anderson's China sendoff party (well, maybe not anymore...); TWBF; and Papaya night. Whether or not any of these 6 events will actually occur is still anyone's guess; Bernie anxiously awaits input from the members of the house to determine which events he'll actually organize.

Our fondest farewell goes out to ex-Scurve and soon-to-be ex-Dabney President Jon Escher Hamkins, the only person on campus to name a cat after himself. Regarded as the runt of the family, Jon was born September 21, 1968, the last of eight children. Mail sorters in Dabney have determined that Jon has secret plans to graduate this year and attend Berkeley in the fall; he and Joel will remain the only two of the eight siblings to live in the same state. Sources indicate that his main gossip-monger contacts at Caltech, Meera Srinivasan and David Edwards, will provide him with weekly updates of the happenings here.

BLACKER ENQUIRER - all the news and more (Enquiring moles want to know.) First there was Ben. Then the company executives decided to change the formula. The old Ben was taken off the market and the new, "Improved", Ben was introduced to the Church and Hovse of Blacker (The two being One and Inseparable.) The moles did not approve of the change. Old Ben artifacts were sold for high prices on the BlackOR market. The company executives revived the old Ben as... "Ben Classic." (Then there was Diet Ben, but that's another story.)

SCANDAL REVEALED Has anyone noticed a peculiar housing arrangement between those two social moguls Carmen and Harvey? Well, informed sources tell us that they have been living in the same alley for the last three years. Additional digging revealed that in these alleys, they always get adjacent rooms. When asked to comment on the rumors of dangerous liaisons, Carmen claims that she has never spoken to Harvey. "I never see him." As for Harvey, he could not be reached for further comment.

EPSILON ERIK and Other Notable Seniors Erik, with five term projects and a five hour final, all due by today, was caught bridge-handed in the Coffeehouse at nights. John promised to drink a beer a page for his thirty-page term paper. ("I really think it'll help me loosen up as I write.") Ron, bogged down with heavy loads in Badminton and Sailing, struggles to complete his last requirements for graduation and then hopes to move onward to graduate school in Santa Cruz. Hovse O'Month. (Nothing more need be said.) Braaaaaad!! John Salmon is finally graduating, but fortunately for us, he will be staying with us for another year. On the other hand, we are still trying to get rid of Andy.

YO YO DING-DONG Because of Tunnel's fascination with Bells, the Page bell miraculously appeared there. There were also reported sightings of Elvis.  was in possession of it for a while. Wurzel took it from  and proceeded to ring it. Kevin got wet here, in Page, and in Baxter. Wurzel escaped unscathed and so, unfortunately, did  Remember, you read it here first.

Well, summer fast approaches, and it's time to wax nostalgic - unless, of course, you're Erich, in which case it's time to wax your legs. But I promised to make it short (but not sweet) this week, so I'm going to skip "The ten most obnoxious things I've said in the Inside World" list.

The Senior Party was a great success, considering that few people knew where it was and when it was. Of course, those who did go got to see live alligator wrestling and Tom Tucker having oral sex with a giraffe. I leave you to draw your own conclusions about what connection, if any, this has with the continual screaming coming out of 360.

This week is the special RA Farewell Party, as we say good-bye to 2.7 wonderful people who were insane enough to take on the responsibility of living with a bunch of gibbering maniacs. We'll miss you, Pat and Kerin, and may God have pity upon the Kennedys, your replacements.

I just want to say that I've really enjoyed writing the IW this year (Todd Kaplan would say I took a real power trip writing it), and I will miss being able to expose everyone's shortcomings and personal lives over the summer while I'm here. But be forewarned: even though I won't be writing over the summer, I'll still be watching - and talking. As Jon H. says, I'm "the biggest mouth in the house." Isn't that the pot calling the kettle black? I mean, if it hadn't been for Jon's big mouth, no one would have known that Glenn Tesler took only 90 minutes to complete the AMa 95c final. I mean, who really has the bigger mouth here, Jon?

There are still several questions to which I will anxiously await the answers over the summer and into next year, and since "Batman" is premiering tonight, it's only fitting that I end this year as the TV show ended, with a bunch of:

Dabney Cliffhanger Questions

1. Will Pete Wyckoff ever know the actual balance in the Dabney House account?
2. Will Alex Dukhovny drop all pretenses and begin dressing like George Lucas?
3. Will Trevor Placker turn to Fascism?
4. Will I ever show any signs of having testosterone?
5. Will Louis ever let Mike Lazzaro live on campus?
6. Will Rob Hanna get one - just one - girl from off campus to visit Dabney House?
7. Will Charles Fu shed his mild-mannered BOC rep personality to become the true full-fledged gossip that I know he can be?
8. Will we ever know where Miriam Yee is really going to grad school?

Senior Send-offs

Art Zirger, Electrical Engineering. Art is the only money-grubbing electrical engineer graduating this year from Dabney, the House of Math/Phys (and CS). Art's going off to China for a while before he does whatever he decides to do. I guess Art is into turmoil and civil war. (There was a joke in here about an ashtray, but if you really want to know what it was, you can come ask me.) He's going to teach English to a bunch of Chinese students, even though Art supposedly doesn't know one word of Chinese. But that's okay. There are ChE 63 TAs who can't speak English.

Bill Flick, Engineering and Applied Science. Bill will be pursuing a graduate course of study in Material Science at the University of Illinois (by the way, Katrin is also going to U. of I. What a coincidence!). Perhaps he will invent the paint that automatically matches the color of the walls over which it is painted. Or maybe he'll voyage to some out-of-the-way country to see if he can coerce people into doing all the things he's too lazy to do.

Todd Kaplan, Economics and Engineering and Applied Science. Todd Kaplan is leaving this year, much to the relief of Physical Plant and Jon Hamkins, who both thought that the wall between rooms 2 and 4 were going to collapse from too much oscillation under the strain of the tones of Doug E. Fresh. Todd, who could have graduated a long time ago, but didn't want to be "just" an economist (yeah, right, Todd, like that was the reason you stayed), stayed long enough to get his E&AS degree - that is, if he can get his option changed by then. However, after several ill-fated job interviews, he will be going to grad school at the University of Minnesota, despite the pleading of one Kim Border. Maybe that's why Todd's nose is brown.

H. Doug Bloomer, Physics. Another Dabney tradition bites the dust with the departure of Doug to graduate school at the University of Oregon at You, Jean. With whom will Al have long meaningful discussions about comic books? However, perhaps in researching particle physics he will be able to explain the seemingly boundless powers of the X-Men.

Jerome Banks, Engineering and Applied Science. Jerome is graduating this year. Not to make a "value judgment", but it seems as if Jerome is going to spend the next year productively. Jerome will be working as a longshoreman in New Joisey, before hopefully going on to graduate school in philosophy. Jerome is planning to do his dissertation on the philosophy of fruit (or is that fruit processes?). Perhaps Jerome will put his philosophy degree to the same good use that Patrick Swayze does in "Roadhouse." It certainly would be interesting to see Jerome as the world's best bouncer.

I'm sure I must have missed at least one of the seniors, so whoever you are, you can consider yourself lucky.

"I'M FROM ATLANTA, AND I WOULDN'T KID YOU."

THAT'S RIGHT, REYNOLDA. MY MOMMA DID NAME ME AFTER RONALD REAGAN.

SHE THINKS HE SHOULD BE RIGHT UP THERE ON MOUNT RUSHMORE, NEXT TO JEFFERSON!

THAT'S WHAT SHE THINKS.

BUT THEN SHE ALSO THINKS LEE ATWATER IS THE NEW B.B. KING.

MAYBE AN AUTOGRAPH PARTY. SURE, SUCH A GOOD IDEA.

FETCH THE PUNCH, PLEASE, MILD.

I MADE 5000 COPIES OF "A PENGUIN'S STORY". I HOPE IT'S ENOUGH.

I WOULDN'T WORRY. GO LET THE CROWD IN WHILE I LINGER UP MY AUTOGRAPH HAND.

WHAT? BREAK IT TO THE WOMEN THAT I WON'T SIGN BODY PARTS?

REGISTRATION DAY

HEY, WHAT'S THIS?? I DIDN'T REGISTER FOR ANY "SOCIAL INTERACTIONS 101" COURSE!

NEW REQUIREMENT FOR GRADUATION! SIGN HERE!

I'VE HAD IT WITH THESE BULLSHIT HUMANITIES COURSES! THERE MUST BE SOME WAY I CAN GET OUT OF TAKING IT!

WELL, YOU CAN TRY TO TEST OUT OF IT. TAKE A LOOK AT THIS SAMPLE QUESTION!

EVERYBODY COME IN AND FORM A SINGLE LINE, PLEASE.

HA! FIRST IN LINE! IT'S SO EXCITING! I'M SO LOOKING FORWARD TO HIS BOOK!

A SAD, SAD DAY FOR AMERICAN LITERATURE. DOES HE SIGN BODY PARTS?

AT A PARTICULARLY PASSIONATE POINT IN THE MOVIE, YOUR DATE HAS THRUST HER HAND INTO YOUR PANTS. YOU SHOULD:

- (A) ASSUME SHE WAS PROBING FOR THE POPCORN AND RE-DIRECT HER
- (B) APOLOGIZE FOR THE HOLES IN YOUR UNDERWEAR
- (C) THINK OF BASEBALL PLAYERS
- (D) RETURN THE FAVOR

CAN I TAKE IT PASS/FAIL?

DOESN'T EVERYONE?

DOESN'T EVERYONE?

PLEASE LIMIT WINDLESS BLATHER WITH AUTHOR TO 30 SECONDS!

MILD SAID THAT AT LEAST THIS ISN'T AS BAD AS HAVING MY EYEBALLS SHOWERED BY RED HOT POWERS COVERED WITH ANTS.

BUT I'M NOT SURE.

HOW COULD NOBODY SHOW UP FOR MY AUTOGRAPH PARTY?? NOBODY!

HOLD IT... YOU DIDN'T SEE THAT COCKROACH THAT SHOWED UP EARLY ON?

SURE. WELL, THERE WAS A CUSTOMER! WHERE IS HE?

RIGHT HERE. HOW CAN YOU WALK ALL OVER YOUR FANS LIKE THAT?

I'M BE WRITING YOUR AUTOBIOGRAPHY. I NEED TO CONFIRM SOME NEW MATERIAL...

I HEARD YOU AND JACK KENNEDY PLAYED "HIDE THE GURCAMOLE" WITH 19 ROCKETTES DURING INAUGURATION NIGHT.

WELL, YEAH. IN A DREAM, I HAD AFTER A MEAL OF BAD ENCHILADAS.

WELL, YEAH. BUT... DID THAT HAPPEN?

THE WASHINGTON POST WORKS THIS WAY, OF COURSE.
