Some of the trophies presently held by Student Houses. The Discobolus, Varsity Rating, and Snake trophies, in the right center of the group, were presented yesterday at the Spring Sports Banquet.

Snake, Discobolus Awards Highlight Spring Banquet

Joseph Bocklage and Bruce Chesebro were co-winners of the new Athlete of the Year award at the Spring Sports Banquet yesterday, and Blacker House walked away with both the Discobolus Trophy and the Goldworthy Interhouse Scholastic Trophy (better known as the Snake Trophy). In addition Ricketts House took the Varsity Rating Trophy by a wide margin over Blacker and Ruddock.

Tau Beta Pi Honorary Fraternity awarded the annual Outstanding Freshman Award to Bill Broste of Ruddock. Ruddock also ran away with the four individual sports trophies. Bill Ricks won the Alumni Baseball Trophy, awarded for "sportsmanship, moral influence, ability as a player, individual improvement." The Vesper Basketball Trophy, awarded for "sportsmanship, improvement, moral influence and scholarship" was given to Joe Weis, who was also elected captain for next year. Still another Ruddock man, George McBean was awarded the Campbell Swimming Trophy and he and Dave Seib were elected co-captains of next year's team. Finally, Ruddock sophomore Ken Brown was awarded the Goldworthy Track Trophy. The team captain for next year will be Ruddock senior Pat Early. All trophies were awarded by a vote of the team members.

Frosh Awards

Freshman awards were also presented in two sports. Jerry Yudelton of Dabney was the winner of the Carl Shy Basketball Trophy, and Tom Resney of Page was given the John C. Peterson Baseball Trophy as the outstanding player on the frosh team.

Trophies were presented to the winners of both the Scott Tennis Tournament for varsity players, won by Spike Curtis, and the Novice Tennis Trophy, for non-varsity players won by Don H. Lee. It was also announced that Les Tomley was named to the first team conference all-stars as an outfielder and Bill Ricks made the second team as a pitcher.

In addition to the above awards, varsity letters and frosh numerals were awarded for swimming, baseball, track, basketball, tennis, and golf. Honor keys and certificates were awarded to those who had earned them earlier in the year by their contributions to Caltech.

Snaking Results

In the Snake Trophy statistics Blacker took its first with a 2.905 overall GPA, down somewhat from Page's record 2.98 last year. The order of finishing of the other six Houses, and their GPA's are: Lloyd, 2.874; Ruddock, 2.847; Page, 2.806; Ricketts, 2.751; Fleming, 2.747; and Dabney, 2.742. The overall average for the student Houses was 2.811 while the off-campus average was 2.873. Tau Beta Pi came through with another customarily statospheric GPA of 3.715. The averages for the four classes were freshmen, 2.654; sophomores, 2.725; juniors, 2.926; and seniors, 3.044. The overall school average was 2.821.

The Goldworthy Trophy was instituted in 1950, and is named after Caltech's second Master of Student Houses who died in 1948. The winner in its first year, with four Houses and Throop Club competing, was Dabney which achieved a 2.64 overall GPA, almost 0.1 points lower than its last place average this year.

The Don Shepard Award was also announced recently, though it was not awarded at the Spring Banquet. Winners of the award, given annually to one or more outstanding needy residents of the Student Houses for cultural pursuits, were Carter Naylor of Blacker and Gerry Thomas of Page, both juniors.

New Prizes Awarded For Mathematics

The winners of the E. T. Ball Undergraduate Research Prize and the Freshman-Sophomore Problem Contest, both annual prizes awarded for the first time this year, were announced at a dinner in the Athenaeum last Tuesday night, May 21. The Bell Prize, a cash award of $150, for an original mathematics paper, was awarded in duplicate to Ed Bender and John Lindsey, both seniors, and the first prize of $25 in the Problem Contest was awarded to Martin Cohen, a freshman.

Attended by the Mathematics Department staff, the dinner also honored the participants in the William Lowell Putman Competition this year. The team for the Putman Competition, composed of Bender, Kenneth Kunen, and Lindsey, placed first in the nation; Bender and Lindsey placed among the top five contestants nationally. Roger Hill and Kenneth Stolarsky placed among the second highest five, and Alan Hindmarsh, Kunen, and Charles Ryavec received honorable mention.

The Bell Prize is awarded to the writer of the best original mathematics paper submitted by a junior or senior under the sponsorship of a member of the mathematics faculty. The winners' names will appear in the commencement program. The Problem Contest, open to sophomores and frosh, results in up to four winners, individuals or groups, who submit the best problem and solution, based on the nature of the problem and the originality and elegance of the solution. Funds for the prizes come from awards accumulated by Caltech teams that have participated in the Putman Competition over the last few years.

Caltech Band Presents Annual Spring Concert

BY TOM LUBENSKY

Tonight at 7:30, the Caltech Band will present its annual Spring Concert in the Athenaeum Patio. The concert will be somewhat different from the traditional third term presentation that is usually held in the Olive Court between Ricketts and Fleming. This year's production will be held under the auspices of the Athenaeum Program and will be a full-length concert, featuring a wide diversity of numbers to appeal to nearly every musical taste.

The first half of the concert will feature several serious productions including Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, Johnson's Concert Overture, Whear's Jederman, and several others. The second half of the program will concentrate on a selection of lighter numbers, including Camelot by Lerner and Lowe, a flashing Mexican number Galito, and Clare Grundman's Second American Folk Rhapsody.

Several of the selections of the program were used during the concert the Band presented at Disneyland Plaza Gardens on April 27, but tonight's production will include many more.

The soothing strains of the evening's festivities will be well within earshot of the student houses, so it is suggested that the student body take a deserved break from its snaking ritual and attend what promises to be an excellent concert.

Seniors Plan Grad Dance

The first annual Caltech Graduation Ball has been set for Thursday evening, June 6. It is only open to seniors. The Grand Ball will feature the six-piece band of Bud Balzer, playing in the Winnett Lounge from 8:30 p.m. till midnight. The dance should be an historic one, setting a new Caltech tradition and providing the seniors with an

With the knowledge that the Resident Associates of Dabney and Lloyd would not return, two new R.A.'s for those houses were selected. Selected as R.A.'s for next year were David Briekner, Chemistry, and Vassilios Kerdemelidis, EE; they have not yet been assigned to Houses.

Anyone who wishes any content changes in the little t (specifically home addresses and house listings) is advised to get all changes into the little t mailbox outside the Y office in Winnett sometime before the end of June.

COFFEE HOUR TODAY

The Coffee Hour today will be the last one held this school year. Everyone is urged to come, in order to make this Coffee Hour a memorable end to the first year in what is hoped to be a long series of successful ASCIT Faculty-Student Coffee Hours.

SUMMER VISITING CONDUCT

Students are reminded that the rotation rules will be in effect this summer. In particular, students should limit visits to freshmen that they do not already know. If an individual feels that he has a good reason for contacting a frosh during the summer, he may do so at the risk of having his House penalized for his actions by the IHC.

IN STEREO, YET!

The sudden appearance of 18 new records in Winnett Lounge is due to a gift (in money) from the Service League to augment their original gift of the Hi-Fi System. In order to show appreciation for the gift, the ASCIT Board suggests that all students using these records treat them with proper care and replace them in their jackets when finished.

Y Pickets, Why?

With their characteristic regard for humanity, the Caltech Y Cabinet has decided that it must enter the racial turmoil and cooperate in the picketing of realtor Jim Wilson. Wilson has been accused of discriminating against Negroes in the selling of homes in his large real estate tracts. There is at present an injunction pending against him to determine if he is receiving federal loans on these projects. If it is judged that he is taking this money while indulging in racial discrimination, he will be required by the government to halt these activities or his financial support will be halted.

Wilson has discovered an ingenious method for making an extra amount on each house he sells. In some tracts he refuses to sell houses to Negroes and raises the going price a certain amount. In other areas, he refuses to sell to whites and raises the price to Negroes a comparable amount. Hail, free enterprise and the capitalistic system.

Regardless of the inner moral revulsion experienced by the enterprising humanist, it is definitely neither his right nor duty to meddle in the private affairs of another person. Private contracts concerning personal property are in no way the business of the Caltech Y Cabinet. Unless the investigating commission rules that he has violated a federal regulation, Wilson retains the right to utilize his private property in any fashion he so desires.

It is very difficult to find any excuse for the action of the Y Cabinet in this affair. Designed as a service organization to the campus, in what way does their recent action reflect anything but perhaps the over-powering urge to sentimentalize all human dealings? This tendency is dangerous because it alienates potential support from thoughts that are perhaps desperately needed.

The growing trend toward picketing as a cure for all the world's ills is symptomatic of the almost sentimental attitude of today's pseudo-liberal fuzzythinkers. Liberalism has been a dominant force in world affairs during the last two centuries mainly because it resisted this temptation to slip over into such a non-realistic frame of mind.

We feel that the action of the Y Cabinet in censoring Wilson was as far as they should have gone. Their picketing action was beyond the bounds of a campus service organization, and we decry their lack of maturity in this matter.

TOTEM Stand Criticized For Impracticality

Editors:

I disagree with the stand taken by you in the editorial two weeks ago on Totem. Your ideas on the matter are idealistic dreaming, rising from a consideration of the success of humor magazines elsewhere, instead of a sane consideration of the facts. Caltech has had three different magazines in the last twelve years: Pendulum for four, Farrago for two, and Totem for six. Each one slowly went downhill, publishing less and less frequently, until it finally succumbed to the apathy of Caltech. Yet each time, cries of outrage arose, and lo! a new magazine arose from the ashes of the previous one. From Pendulum, which was literary, rose Farrago, which was a combination of humor and serious writing, with the emphasis on the humor; from Farrago rose the Totem we all (except the frosh) know so well.

From this, it appears to me that it is obvious that no such undertaking is ever going to succeed here. It hasn't done it yet, and there is no reason to believe it will now. Hence, I think the BOD should turn down any request for money for a magazine, literary or humorous or both, on the grounds stated above, and let the idea remain as it should, stillborn.

Soph Snakes Join Sections

Individual sophomore honor sections in each of the three subjects, Ma 2, Ph 2, and H 2, will again be available in 1963-64, it was recently announced by the Registrar's Office.

All eligible freshmen who wish to be considered for enrollment in any combination of honor sections must indicate their intention on a form available at the Registrar's Office, 119 Throop, before June 8. Failure to file the form on time will cancel eligibility.

To be eligible, a student must have achieved a GPA of 3.0 overall in the freshman year, must have an average grade of 3.3 or better in the prior course in the field of the honor section (for example, 3.3 or better in Ma 1abc for the math honor section), and must have the permission of the instructor who is to teach the section.

Three Projects Planned By Y

The Caltech Y has announced its term end projects. These include collecting books for Asians, gathering clothing for overseas relief and a student book exchange.

Every year the Y sends books to the Asia Foundation to be distributed to Asian colleges and secondary schools. Persons who wish to donate text and reference books published after 1945 should bring them to the Y office.

Boxes will be placed in the house lounges for used clothing for the American Service Committee for overseas relief. Students who wish to sell books for next year should bring them to the Y office before the end of this term. Students set their own prices at the Y Book Exchange.

THE FOUR DAYS OF NAPLES

This flick is the biggest disappointment since the Eldsel. It's had more ballyhoo than any import film since La Dolce Vita; the Italians praised it tumultuously and chose it as their entry for a (yawn) Academy Award. One feeling that seemed universal was surprise that this was director Nanni Loy's first effort. Well, I say, Signor Loy should be very glad that this is his first effort, because if it were his second his case would probably be hopeless.

Cheese Surgery

Picking this thing apart is like doing surgery on a lump of cheese. What needs to be said about the following scene: an Italian soldier and a German soldier are gambling through the streets together, buddies, the best of friends. While the Italian drinks from a water fountain in the piazza, a conveniently located loudspeaker announces that Italy and Germany are now enemies instead of allies. When the Italian looks up, his buddy is poking a gun in his face. End of scene. Or this one: Italians and Germans are lobbing shells at each other. The Italians can't hold out much longer. Then a little boy runs out trying to blow up a German tank and gets shot. "Sure we can hang on," says an enraged Italian, "We're all strong men now!" Then he gets shot himself. "Don't bother about me..."

Hollywood by the Tiber

What I'm trying to say is that this is just a standard Hollywood-type war movie, of the ilk of Battleground and many others I've succeeded in forgetting. If some particular artistry were evident it would be another matter, but the photography is run-of-the-mill, the characters featureless. There is one thing that keeps one awake for awhile, and that is the chance to look at the sensitive, animated Italian faces as they stream past the camera. But you can watch extras only so long.

History Rewritten

Well then, why so much fuss about The Four Days of Naples? The answer, I think, must be sought in the Italian psychology. One of the most cherished beliefs in Italy today is that "we (the Italians) weren't really fascists, not like the Germans, anyway, it was all their fault, they made us do it." The Italians really want to believe this very badly, and the movie like The Four Days, which tells of an uprising against the Germans, helps them to believe — hence its enthusiastic reception. To keep the record straight I checked on the historical facts, and found that the uprising did indeed take place, but that it was hardly a great Italian victory; the Germans were permitted to keep all their arms and equipment if they'd just leave the city, and for spite they burned down a library on their way out. At any rate, I'm getting tired of this cinematic fingerpointing. That the Italians may be a shade greyer than the Germans is possible — I'll leave that to the historians. But the persistent attempt to convince the world that the Italians were little lost sheep who had gone astray — that strikes me as just so much whimpering. Nor does painting one side all black and the other side all white make for a very interesting movie. The only fun that's left is watching the bad guys get killed — and somehow I don't get any fun out of that. I keep remembering that bad guys are people too.

Baseballers Lose Twin Bill To Redlands Nine

The Caltech Varsity baseball squad rounded out the season last Wednesday with a hard fought doubleheader against Redlands. After dropping the opener 9-2, Tech outhit Redlands, 14 hits to 12, in the second game to no avail. A series of errors in the eighth inning provided Redlands with the edge it needed to win, 10-7. Dahlman, 3 for 5 and Hewitt 3 for 4 were the strongest offensive threats while Weber and Gowen also had good days at the plate with each collecting two hits.

Although plagued with a sore arm for part of the season, Bill Ricks proved to be the strongest hurler of the team this year. In pitching a total of 44 innings Ricks recorded a remarkable 50 strikeouts on the opposition.

Les Tomley led the team in batting average with .333, followed by Weber, .311, and Barker, .262.

Aided by a large number of returning lettermen plus several prospects from the Frosh team, the Tech nine can look to next year with much confidence for a successful season.

Calvert Is Tech Fencing Coach

One of the newer sports at Caltech is that of fencing. It is being coached by Delmar Calvert, who has had many years of experience in instruction. He obtained his Fencing Master degree from the French Foreign Legion, and has taught in the foreign legion, French civilian clubs, and, upon coming to America, he formed his own club in Chicago, which was unbeaten in the Midwestern championships for 4 years.

Several fencers who have competed in the Pan-American games and the Olympics have been under Calvert's training, and for his work in Europe and America the French government has awarded him the Merit of Sports. He has been in this area for five months, and presently is a coach at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

The fencing program here has been in progress for five weeks, and Calvert says it has been going "more than well." The first three weeks were devoted to groundwork, or "bodywork," with the rest of the time spent studying blade motion and attacks. The class is termed so exceptional that three months' work has been accomplished in this period. There are plans to enter Caltech in intercollegiate competition next year, both local and national. Those interested in the sport are urged to participate next year.

Cricketers Lose To Westwood CC

The Caltech cricket team lost a close game to the Westwood Cricket Club by the score of 93-92 in their last game to date. The margin of victory was a dropped catch by one of the Caltech players.

This Sunday the team will host the Stanford University team in a game to be held at 3:00 p.m. at TP. The Stanford team is undefeated this far, and should present quite a challenge for our winless team. Dr. Huttenback, the chief supporter of the team, stated that the team would make a supreme effort to overcome the opposition and bring victory to Tech. He also believed that this game may be one of the first intercollegiate cricket matches played in this country. Tea will be served during halftime, as usual.

Bowl Concert

will feature Zubin Mehta, Leonard Pennario, Moussorgsky, Rachmaninoff, and 75c admission. This master plan will be implemented on campus by a farsighted committee consisting of the following members: A. Jerry Brady (Braun); James E. Davis (Page); Judi Z. Helfman (Ruddock); and John W. Radin (Page).

In all seriousness, if anyone is interested in attending a concert featuring "Pictures at an Exhibition" and the Rachmaninoff Piano Concerto No. 1, sitting in $1.50 seats at half price, please drop a note in the Helfman (H) box in Ruddock with your summer address and (if possible) telephone number, so that you can be contacted prior to July 4th.
